

DO YOU FEEL LIKE TAKING A BATH?

You are in the bathroom, having a relaxing bath. Alone. Nobody is at home.

Suddenly, lights switch off. You wait some time, thinking that this is the blackout of every day. The electricity in your house is very bad, somebody should repair it, and you are fed up about this. You are still in the dark and, annoyed, you decide to get out of the bath carefully to see what's happening.

Then, there's a trembling. You start to feel scared. Something is wrong. Slowly, you decide to get out of the bath and, blindly, you reach the door.

Then, the lights switch on again, but you're not relieved. You try to open the door, but it is locked. You didn't lock it! Your heartbeat speeds up and your respiration accelerates. You get paralyzed, but you try again. You can't open it. A chill crosses your body.

You turn around, but you stop at the mirror. There's a creature behind you. A white, bloody and chilling creature. Behind you.

Slowly, you turn around. But there's nothing behind you! In that moment, you feel a frozen air stream that shots your face and you feel how it sucks your soul.

YOU WILL NEVER BE THE SAME.

Vampiric H. All O'ween