

The ghost student

Once upon a time, in 1905, in a boarding school located in the middle of the forest, a student was killed, called Noah. Nowadays the murder has not been solved. Each 25th of April, Noah walks by the school demanding for the crime to be resolved.

New students discovered that there is a secret passage in the school. They were a little surprised, but at the same time confused. They began to investigate the crime on their own, and how to enter the passage. One of the boarding school rules is not leaving the boarding school at any time, and not to leave the room without telling the teachers. Of course, they broke the rules. The second week of school, at night, they went to the forest to find some clues to solve Noah's murder. At sunrise, they went back to the rooms, but instead of six people, there were five. Suddenly, people started to disappear and to die. When they arrived at the room, they found the body of their friend. The teachers checked the rooms, and they immediately notified the police to act. The next morning, while they were having breakfast, the police entered and took the five of them away to ask some questions. The lights switched off, but when the light came back on, sadly, there was another death. They assumed it was Noah to manifest himself for his freedom and justice. Months after being investigating, while they were teaching, an alarm started to sound, everyone was worried because it wasn't the fire alarm, it was...the disease alarm! This disease is called "Istanburgensen "and is deadly. It has no cure, but it seems like Noah has made all this start, that's why everyone began to tell them important things, for example, who killed her, what happened, which is the cure of the illness...They put infected people in a room. Noah was remembering more from that day, what happened and who killed her. The police went there four days a week to be more specific. Every time they were collecting more clues. Noah began to investigate how she died. One night, Noah told them that she would cure the disease. The cure was a syrup of lemon, orange, tabasco, hair, oregano, rosemary, broccoli, cauliflower, and finally some fish eyes. She knew it was disgusting, but she didn't want anyone else to leave like her. The boarding school began to have 20,050 samples of that cure. Little by little the people who were in quarantine healed and could join classes.

Finally, Noah and the police discovered who her murderer was... Thomas, the fencing teacher!!! After being investigated, it was discovered that he was a stalker and a killer, he had already killed fourteen people plus three from the boarding school. The police were surprised because they didn't know there were so many deaths. The best thing about this story is that, after that, everyone continues studying. They changed the fencing teacher, and the police have solved all the murders.
